Colorado Opportunity Scholarship Initiative approves 29 new local scholarship proposals

DENVER, May 31, 2017 – The Colorado Opportunity Scholarship Initiative (COSI) board approved 29 local scholarship proposals worth $2.5 million to counties, institutions of higher education and workforce development organizations. One-to-one matches of community and state funds will grow the tuition support for student scholarships to a total of $5 million.

“Thanks to the generosity of our partners, we’ve made more than 4,700 scholarships available for Colorado students,” said Dr. Kim Hunter Reed, executive director of the Colorado Department of Higher Education. “We’re eager to expand our success to more counties and public institutions as we focus on making higher education more accessible and affordable for every Coloradan.”

This was the fourth and final COSI proposal review period for 2016-2017. A new round of funding will open again in August 2017, allowing applicants to apply for a portion of the $7.5 million in matching scholarship funds available in 2017-2018.

“In addition to our larger counties and institutions, the team worked diligently with smaller communities to ensure all areas of the state planned to continue their participation,” said Shelley Banker, director of the Colorado Opportunity Scholarship Initiative. “The team provided a significant amount of technical assistance to encourage applications and participation to grow support for Colorado students.”

The 29 awards represent 32 counties ($2,155,034), six institutions of higher education ($232,058) and three workforce programs ($113,000). Scholarships are multi-year awards ranging from $1,000-$5,000 depending on program and financial need. The majority of the funds are available to students over the next two to four years.

About the Colorado Opportunity Scholarship initiative

The Colorado Opportunity Scholarship Initiative (Scholarship Initiative) was created to increase the attainment of postsecondary credentials and degrees for underserved students in Colorado. The project addresses this challenge in two ways: accessibility and affordability. To increase accessibility, the Scholarship Initiative funds programs that will help prepare students for postsecondary education, as well as support them through completion. To increase affordability, the Scholarship Initiative will provide tuition support via matching funds for community scholarships.

The Colorado Department of Higher Education (CDHE) is committed to reducing the attainment gap, which is the gap between Coloradans who traditionally go to college and Coloradans from demographic groups who are historically less likely to go to college. CDHE is working toward that goal through a variety of ways, including addressing college affordability through programs like the Colorado Opportunity Scholarship Initiative.
